26 Illustrated Marketing Technology Stacks

Hosted by  chiefmartec  MartechTribe

Scott Brinker

Frans Riemersma

10 Years of Illustrated Martech Stacks

This is the 10th year that we have run The Stackies as an awards contest that invites marketers to send in a single slide illustrating their marketing stack — the collection of martech tools they use and the way they conceptualize them together as a whole.

Although we award trophies for a few winning entries for the ideas they shared, any stack that works for the team who uses it is a winner where it really matters.

But through this contest, the martech community at large also wins, by learning from the many examples their peers so generously share. A big, big thank you goes out to everyone who contributed.

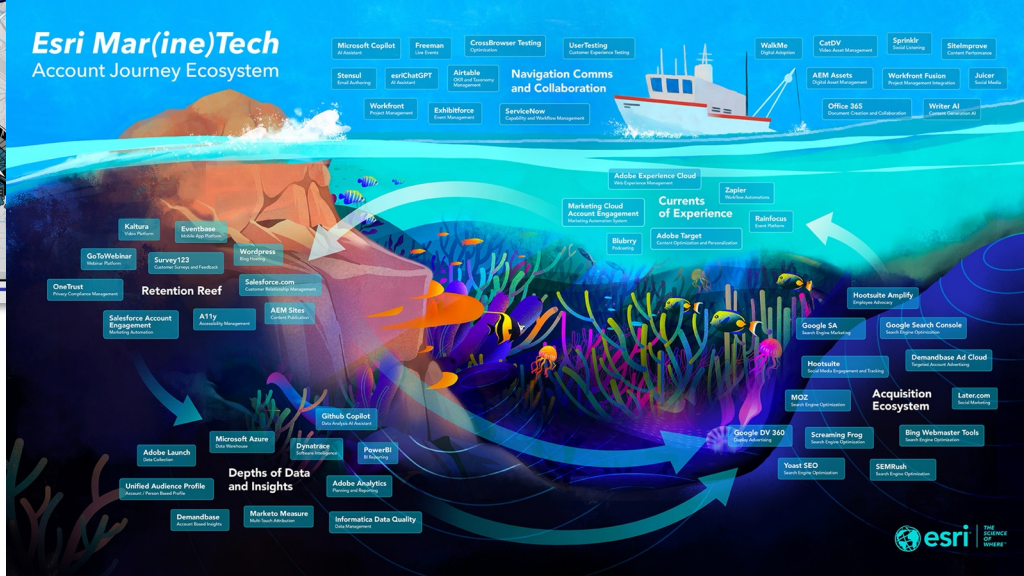

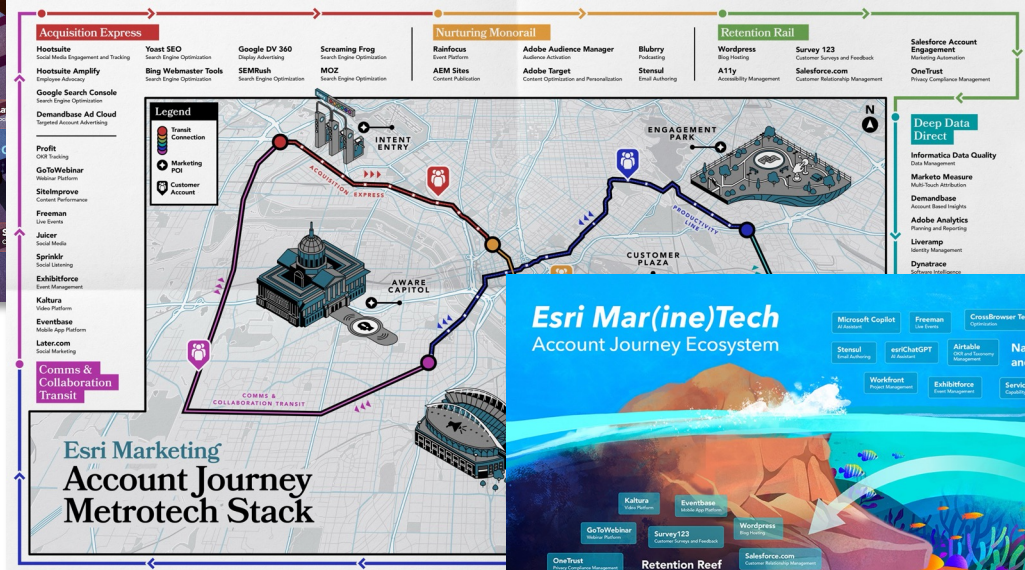

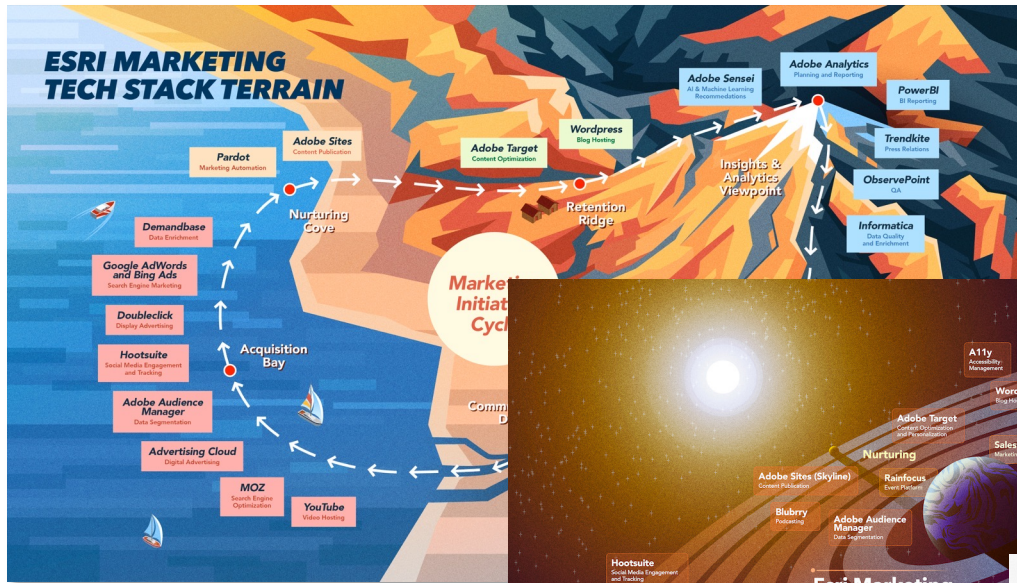

In support of this initiative, we have donated $100 for each stack submitted — $2,600 for all 26 entries — to the non-profit UNICEF.

2024 Stackie Lifetime Achievement Awards

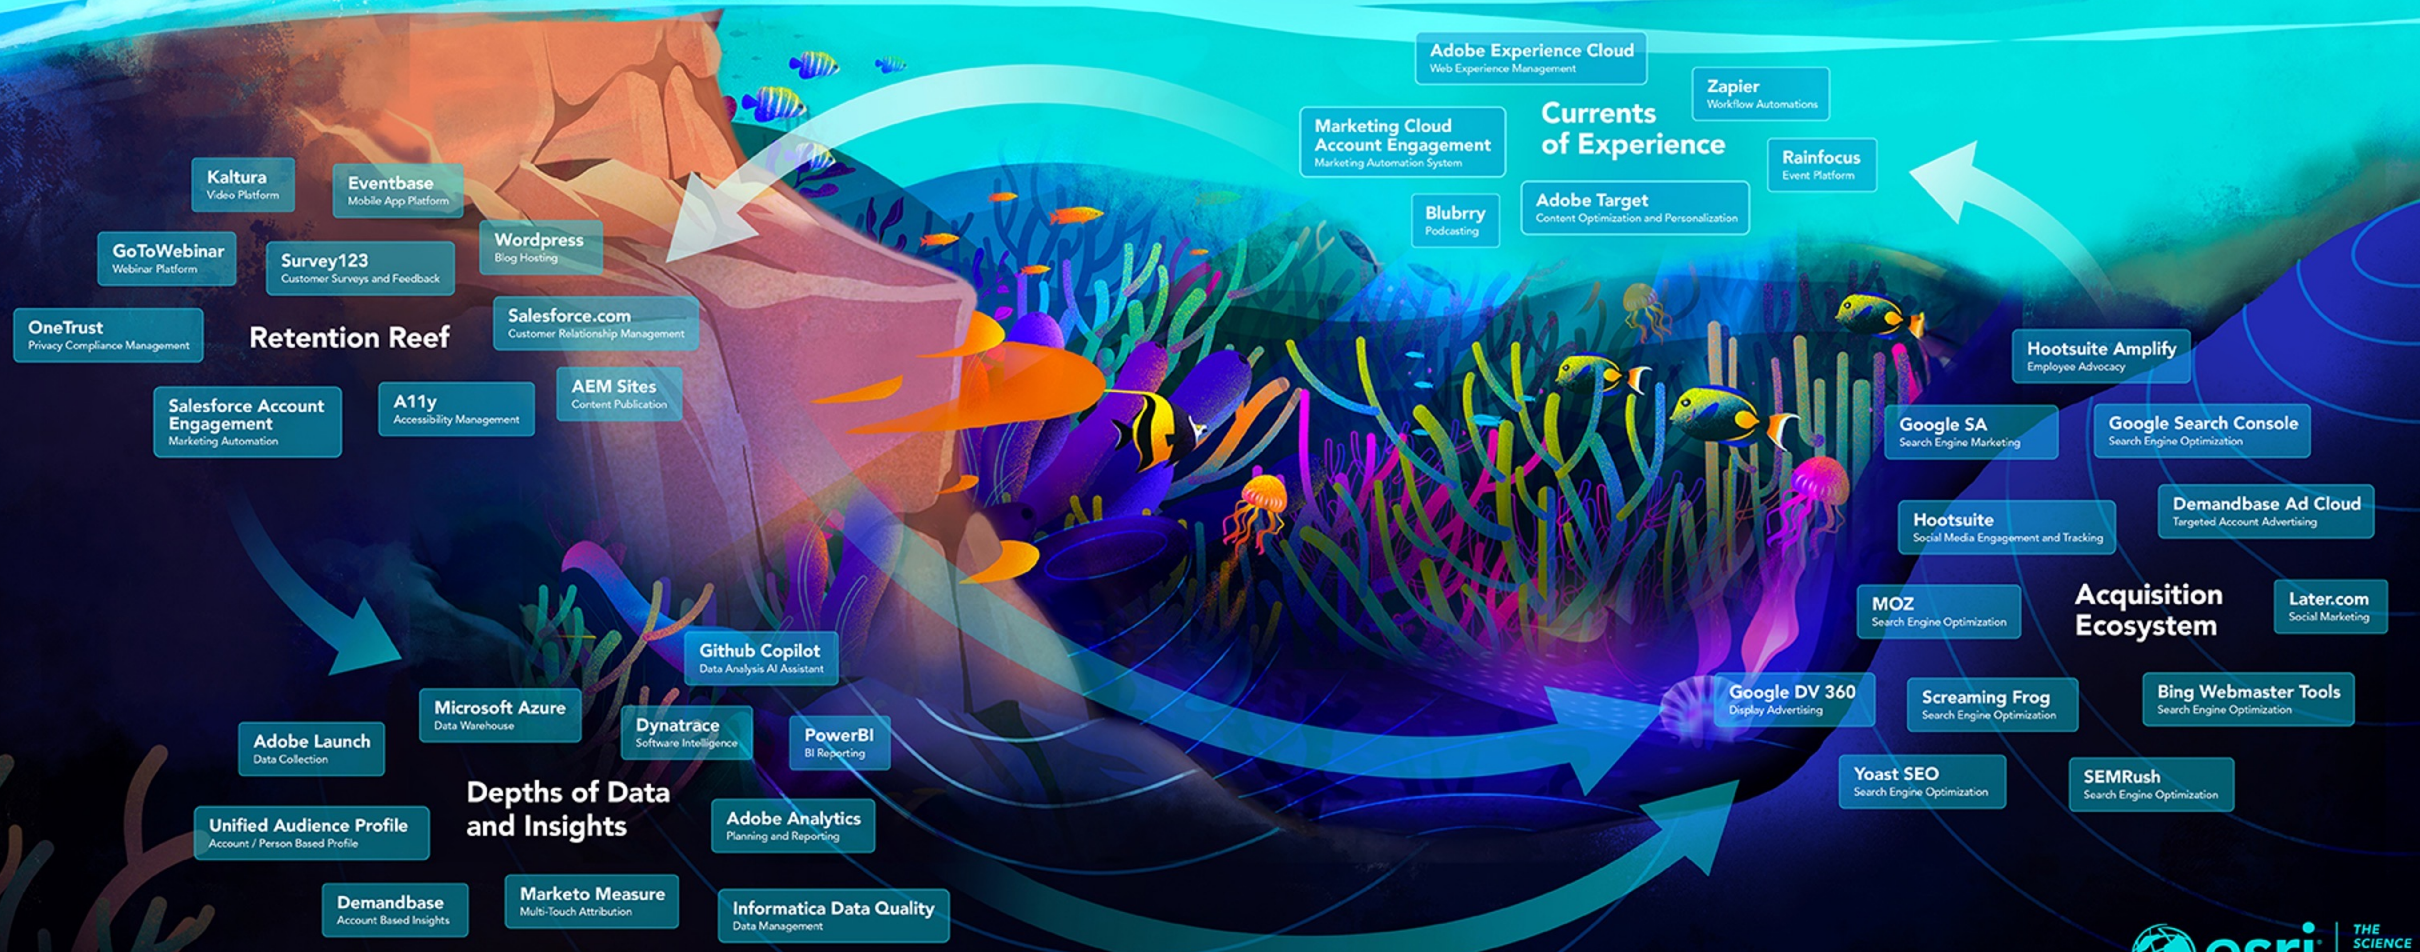

Entrants this year who also entered in 3 or more previous years and have won at least one of those years.

YESTERDAY

The Thomson Reuters marketing technology (martech) stack was overly complex and unwieldy due to siloed ownership, democratized funding availability, frequent acquisitions and divestitures. This led to: platform redundancies, increased expenses, poor adoption due to a lack of comprehensive use cases; inability to visualize the comprehensive stack and understand critical dependencies; unsatisfactory ownership and management of the end-to-end martech stack.

TODAY

Our journey to simplify began with centralizing resources into an enterprise marketing operations team. TR also consolidated software spend and governance with internal IT, with a shared data lake and visibility across all stakeholders. Using CabinetM, TR created a detailed directory of capabilities, applications, and integrations. Technology capability owners now oversee business processes and relevant platforms; a more holistic and supported model than portfolio owners who managed only top-tier platforms and vendors. Finally, TR developed and instituted a scorecard to evaluate platform performance to inform long-term stack management.

TOMORROW

Navigating tomorrow, TR is actively embedding AI features into marketing and sales activities. Early testing of M365 Copilot, plus exploring AI functionality in existing and proprietary platforms, is spurring a rapid upskill of internal resources. Future plans bring a renewed focus on conversation automation powered by machine learning (ML) and natural language processing (NLP). Traversing generative AI, chat, conversational intelligence, appointment scheduling and automated messaging is expected to demonstrably improve TR's engagement with potential (and current) customers via meaningful conversations capitalizing on interest and demand for TR products and services.
